

Second Edition

A Contemporary Approach to
Substance Use Disorders and Addiction Counseling

Ford Brooks and Bill McHenry

AMERICAN COUNSELING
ASSOCIATION
6101 Stevenson Avenue, Suite 600
Alexandria, VA 22304
www.counseling.org

Second Edition

A Contemporary Approach to Substance Use Disorders and Addiction Counseling

Copyright © 2015 by the American Counseling Association. All rights reserved. Printed in the United States of America. Except as permitted under the United States Copyright Act of 1976, no part of this publication may be reproduced or distributed in any form or by any means, or stored in a database or retrieval system, without the written permission of the publisher.

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

American Counseling Association
6101 Stevenson Avenue, Suite 600 • Alexandria, VA 22304

Associate Publisher Carolyn C. Baker

Production Manager Bonny E. Gaston

Digital and Print Development Editor Nancy Driver

Copy Editor Kerri L. Tolan

Cover and text design by Bonny E. Gaston

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Brooks, Ford.

A contemporary approach to substance use disorders and addiction counseling/
Ford Brooks and Bill McHenry.—[Second edition]

pages cm

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 978-1-55620-339-8 (pbk. : alk. paper)

1. Drug abuse counseling. 2. Alcoholism counseling. 3. Addicts—Counseling.
4. Substance abuse. 5. Health counseling. I. McHenry, Bill, 1971– II. American Counseling Association, issuing body. III. Title.

RC564.B74 2014

362.29'186—dc23

2014038875

Sarah Journey and Parker Tripp
May you never know the horrors of addiction

In Memory
Clifford W. Brooks and Alberta L. Brooks
God rest their souls

table of contents

	About the Authors	vii
	Acknowledgments	ix
chapter 1	Drug and Alcohol Counseling: An Introduction	1
chapter 2	Diversity Issues in Substance Abuse Treatment	13
chapter 3	Types of Drugs and Their Effects	43
chapter 4	Assessment, Diagnosis, and Interview Techniques	79
chapter 5	Continuum of Nonuse to Addiction: A Biopsychosocial Understanding	115
chapter 6	Treatment and Treatment Settings	137
chapter 7	Developmental Approaches in Treating Addiction	153
chapter 8	Family and Addiction	171
chapter 9	Grief and Loss in Addiction	183

Table of Contents

chapter 10	Group Counseling and Addiction	193
chapter 11	Relapse Prevention and Recovery	225
chapter 12	Spirituality and Support Groups in Recovery	247
chapter 13	Addictions Training, Certification, and Ethics	261
chapter 14	The Importance of Counselor Self-Care	281
	References	289
	Index	311

about the authors

Ford Brooks, EdD, LPC, NCC, CADAC, is a professor in the Department of Counseling and College Student Personnel at Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania. He coordinates the Clinical Mental Health Program as well as Practicum and Field Internships for the Counseling Department. Brooks provides counseling, supervision, and training services to clients, supervisees, and agencies and schools in the South Central Region of Pennsylvania.

Brooks received his doctorate in counseling from the College of William and Mary, his master of science degree in rehabilitation from Virginia Commonwealth University (with specialization in alcohol and drug rehabilitation counseling), and a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Richmond in psychology. Brooks has been a professional counselor for 30 years, working primarily with clients who suffer from addiction and co-occurring mental disorders. He has worked in hospital, inpatient and outpatient clinics, private practice, and university student affairs settings. Much of Brooks's clinical work and writing has focused on relapse prevention, spirituality issues, and surrender in addiction.

Bill McHenry, PhD, LPC, NCC, is Dean of Graduate Studies and Research at Texas A&M University (Texarkana). His doctorate is in counselor education from the University of South Dakota. McHenry has been a professional counselor for 16 years. His professional experiences include working with clients (individuals, groups, couples, and families) with substance abuse-addiction issues in schools, universities, rehabilitation programs, mental health agencies, and college counseling centers.

acknowledgments

I (Ford) again thank Carolyn Baker for her support and energy around this second edition. A big thank-you to Nancy Driver for her many suggestions and ideas for this text and overall support from the publications department of ACA.

I acknowledge Dr. Todd Whitman for his updates on the DSM-5, which was utilized from a training Powerpoint he created.

I give special thanks to Ashley Miller, a graduate student in our program, for her work conducting literature searches–reviews and her written contributions to the chapters on depression, trauma, and opiate treatment. Corinne Ruppert, also a graduate student in our program and a graduate assistant in our department, deserves thanks for the literature searches she conducted. Their help with this second edition has been very much appreciated.

Hugs to Barbara Leinbach for always believing in my abilities and supporting me over the years. Many thanks also to Jen McClellan, Cindy Rockwell, and Dr. Kurt Kraus for their support.

I thank Bill for his polishing and edits in this second edition. I appreciate your willingness to work again on this project.

I (Bill) thank our editorial team, especially Carolyn Baker for believing in this project, supporting our work, and making the process smooth and professional through every turn. To the reviewers of our work, thank you for your insightful suggestions, clear direction, and respectful frames. You made our book better in many ways.

Thank you to my family for your support, guidance, and the peace you continue to provide in my life. Finally, I want to thank Ford for the opportunity to create this meaningful and important book. Throughout the process I was in constant awe of your patience, skill, knowledge, and respect for both our readers and the clients we serve..

