

Reconceptualizing the Counseling Profession

A Decoloniality Journey

EDITED BY

EDIL TORRES RIVERA

IVELISSE TORRES FERNÁNDEZ

American
Counseling
Association counseling.org

Copyright © 2025 American Counseling Association. All rights reserved.

American Counseling Association
2461 Eisenhower Avenue, Suite 300
Alexandria, Virginia 22314

Published in the United States of America

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Library of Congress Control Number 2025032965
CIP data requested but not available at time of publication

Contents

Acknowledgements	i
Preface.....	iii
Edil Torres Rivera and Ivelisse Torres Fernández

Theories and Bases

1. The History of Counseling	3
Edil Torres Rivera
2. A Short Recount of the Intersectionality of Counseling and Decoloniality.....	19
Edil Torres Rivera
3. Identity as a Form of Liberation.....	37
Roni K. White
4. Decolonial Thought.....	63
Yarimar Rosa-Rodríguez and Eduardo A. Lugo-Hernández
5. Foundational Concepts of Decolonization	95
Edil Torres Rivera
6. Colonization and Racism	119
Daun Kwag and Carlos Hipolito-Delgado
7. Counseling for Social Justice Without Decolonization	139
Mariaimeé Gonzalez, Jude Bergkamp, Katherine Fort, Keiko Sano, and Rachael Fuller

Applications

8. Reconceptualization of the Counseling Profession From a Decoloniality Approach.....	163
Edil Torres Rivera
9. Clinical Approaches	177
Thomas A. Chávez and Deidre P. Yellowhair
10. Indigenous Ways of Knowing	203
Julie Smith-Yliniemi, Krista Malott, and Susan Rodríguez Branco
11. Clinical Supervision.....	223
José Francisco Avilés-Acosta and Javier Robledo Rivera
12. The Interconnectedness of Decolonization and Decoloniality in Counseling.....	247
Deidre P. Yellowhair and Thomas A. Chávez
13. Reconceptualizing the Counseling Profession	271
Ivelisse Torres Fernández and Edil Torres Rivera
Glossary.....	281
Index.....	291
About the Editors.....	311
About the Contributors	313